

"He lost his voice. He found his violin. And the music that came out the other side is unlike anything you've ever heard."

After years as an internationally touring musician — performing for 60,000 people at the Commonwealth Games, sharing a stage with Sandy Kelly (Johnny Cash's collaborator), and debuting as soloist with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra at thirteen — Tyler Carson hit a wall. A long depression took his voice. What came back was something deeper: a violin sound shaped by grief, recovery, and an unshakeable love for being alive. Now featured on CBS Mornings and based in Sedona, Tyler plays in the red rock canyons with a presence that stops people cold. Not just technically exceptional — emotionally undeniable.
